

Parental trauma webinar: The impact of parental trauma on the health and developmental wellbeing of children and young people.

Teachers, educators and support teams acknowledge that parenting is not easy and some days parents struggle too.

Sometimes these struggles can trigger trauma from a parent's childhood that was not pleasant and in some cases, abusive or violent. It may also be a result of domestic violence, grief, neglect or a parent may be temporarily unable to navigate current additional stressors in their lives.

This presentation will provide an opportunity for you to:

- Understand how exposure to parental trauma affects the learning, behaviour and emotional reactivity of children and young people.
- Gain a better understanding of the impact of parental trauma on families and how it affects their experience in educational and support settings.
- Assist you to recognise and support trauma affected parents to improve the wellbeing and learning outcomes for their children and young people.

The journey for children and young people who are exposed to unresolved parental trauma can lead to insecure attachment across generations and present as behavioural and health concerns in educational and support settings.

By joining this presentation, it will assist you in creating a deeper awareness of the impacts of parental trauma and how you can assist children, young people and their families, within your care and community who are experiencing these challenges.

It is suitable for principals, teachers, educators, support workers, school administration staff and other professionals within the community who work with children and young people. It will contribute 2 hours of NESA registered PD addressing 6.2.2 and 7.4.2 from the Australian Professional Standards for teachers towards maintaining Proficient Teacher Accreditation in NSW.

Event details

Date: Thursday, 22 October 2020.

Time: 6:30pm to 8:30pm AEST.

Price: $65 per person, including GST.

Speaker: Heather Irvine-Rundle, clinical psychologist and director of The Read Clinic.

Location: Online webinar. Registered guests will receive an email with webinar details the week before.

Book tickets: <https://committedtochildcareconferences.com/parental-trauma-webinar-october-2020>